

Sajad Jafari was born in Kermanshah, Iran, in 1983. He received his BSc, MSc, and PhD degrees in biomedical engineering in 2005, 2008, 2013 from biomedical engineering department, Amirkabir University of Technology (Tehran Polytechnic), Tehran, Iran.

He is currently an assistant professor in there (since 2013). His research interests include nonlinear and chaotic systems and signals, and mathematical biology. Also he is interested in complex networks and collective behaviours in them, such as synchronization, Chimera states, and spiral waves. He serves as editor in International Journal of Bifurcation and Chaos, International Journal of Electronics and Communications, and Radioengineering. He has been one of the highly cited researchers in 2019 and 2020 according to Clarivate Analytics. He also has won COMSTECH award in mathematics (2019).
